A1: General Regulations for Taught Courses

Introduction and meanings

1. In these regulations, as context demands, “you” and “your” mean the student, apprentice or the applicant; “we”, “us”, “our” and “ourselves” mean the University of South Wales or the Royal Welsh College of Music and Drama (RWCMD) as appropriate.
2. These regulations tell you what we will do to provide courses of study, and what you must do as a student, apprentice or applicant. They form an important part of the contract between us, and will not change without your involvement (which may be by the Students’ Union acting on your behalf). We review these regulations at the end of every academic year. We will let you know at re-enrolment if there are any changes.
3. Sometimes the regulations will refer to specific policies or procedures. These policies and procedures set out details of how we will deliver the obligations set out in these regulations, and may change through your studies with us. We will always ensure that our policies and procedures deliver the commitments we have made to you.
4. These regulations apply to you and to all taught courses that we offer.
5. There are also regulations for specific courses, or types of course, which supplement these regulations: you should read the relevant course regulations as well. The General Regulations for Taught Courses and the specific Course Regulations work together to set out the framework of how we will offer educational opportunities, and the expectations that we have of you.
6. Sometimes Course Regulations will set out exceptions to the General Regulations – this enables us to take account of industry needs or the needs of professional, regulatory or statutory bodies. Where this is the case, the Course Regulations will take precedence over the General Regulations.
7. We use the regulations to ensure that we are consistent in our academic judgements and that we treat you fairly and equally.
8. Some of the words in these regulations have a specific meaning. Where this is particular to a section, the word is defined in that place.
9. Some words are used more generally, and their particular meanings are set out here:
 - a. “Day” means a calendar day: that is, including weekends, bank holidays and University closure days.
 - b. “Working day” excludes weekends, bank holidays and University closure days.
 - c. “Period of Study” means the academic cycle for your course of study. For most of our courses, this will be the standard academic year of September to June but there are non-standard course start dates.

Awards, Courses and Modules

10. The Awards Framework shows the qualifications we award, their academic level and credits awarded in relation to Welsh and UK qualifications frameworks and credit systems.
11. A programme of study is the approved curriculum followed by an individual; it may be identical with a course, or be one of a number of standard routes available within a large course, or it may be unique to you.
12. A course is a set programme of study, successful completion of which leads to the award of a specified degree, diploma, certificate or other qualification.
13. For each course, or type of course, there is a set of Course Regulations which set out the specific rules or conditions for completion of the course and award of the associated degree or other qualification. Course Regulations supplement these General Regulations.
14. Courses are organised into smaller blocks of study, called modules. A module is a block of study with associated learning outcomes, rated as being at a certain academic level. Modules are also described in terms of credits and levels.
15. Course specifications set out the course and the modules which you must study, and the learning outcomes which you must demonstrate, at the academic level necessary to be awarded the degree or other qualification.
16. Credits and levels of study are assigned in line with the norms of the UK higher education sector, as articulated by the Quality Assurance Agency for Higher Education in its Framework for Higher Education Qualifications and the Credit Qualification Framework for Wales.
17. Degree apprenticeships combine working with studying part time at a university. Apprentices are employed throughout the course, and spend part of their time at the University and the rest with their employer. This can be on a day-to-day basis or in blocks of time, depending on the course and requirements of the employer.

Admissions

18. You must apply for admission to study a specific course or courses using the application form or system set out for that course. We will consider your application on its individual merits.
19. We may ask you to undertake interviews, tests or other forms of assessment in considering applications; we will ask you to provide evidence of the qualifications and experience you claim on your application.
20. We may require you to demonstrate proficiency in the English Language.
21. For some courses we may need evidence of other qualities, such as medical clearance or Disclosure and Barring Service clearance.
22. If we offer you a place, we may offer you that place conditional upon your meeting certain criteria.

23. We may make you an offer of admission to a different course than that to which you applied.

Admission of USW Group

24. Members of staff of the University of South Wales Group (the University of South Wales; the Royal Welsh College of Music and Drama; Merthyr Tydfil College of Further Education), or its partner institutions may not normally be admitted to any module or course with which they are involved in assessment, or which are assessed by any board of which they are a member.

Recognition of Prior Learning

25. Where you can demonstrate that your prior experience or formal study meets some of the learning outcomes set out for a programme of study, we may on this account exempt you from some components of that course.
26. Exemption can vary up to a maximum of two-thirds of the course for the relevant award. Individual course regulations give the relevant detail for that course.
27. Applications for such recognition of prior learning will be considered on a case-by-case basis.
28. We may agree that another institution's provision – individual modules or combinations of modules – maps on to a course of the University.
29. If we recognise your prior learning, and exempt you from some elements of the course, your award and any classification will be calculated using only marks from your study with us.
30. Credit is transferable but classification is not.

Enrolment and Re-enrolment

31. You must enrol with us before you begin your studies and re-enrol in line with the requirements of your course or module(s). This may include making module choices and confirming address and contact details.
- a. Enrolment means the confirmation of the agreement between us that you will be a student or apprentice for a specific award. You enrol at the beginning of your studies with us.
 - b. Re-enrolment means the confirmation, by you, that you intend to actively study in a given period of study, with attendance and submission for assessment as set out for your course.
32. Prior to enrolment or re-enrolment, you must either have paid your fees, or made arrangements to our satisfaction for fee payment, for the duration of the course.
33. You will be subject to the University's Fees and Debt Management Policy and should make yourself familiar with this document.

Associate Student Scheme

34. The Associate Student Scheme exists to encourage and allow members of the community to enrol to study modules in order to gain a first experience of higher education and also for existing students (both full and part time) to undertake modules in addition to those mandated by the requirements of their courses.
35. Associate Students may take up to and including 40 credits at either undergraduate or postgraduate level in any academic year.
36. Associate Students may:
 - a. be enrolled on a University course, and any credits gained as an Associate Student may subsequently be counted towards an award as accredited prior learning if appropriate and if they are consistent with the course and/or professional body regulations;
 - b. enrol on modules or courses leading or contributing to a professional qualification.
37. If you are already studying on a course at the University, we will need to agree that you may also study as an Associate Student.
38. Associate students may not use the Scheme as a means of re-taking credits referred as part of another University course.

Apprenticeships

39. If you are registered on an apprenticeship course, your employer's support will need to be maintained to continue your registration with the University. If, during your course, you cease to be employed by your apprenticeship provider, we may terminate your registration with the University but will assist in finding you an alternative course, where possible.
40. Course specifications for apprenticeships set out the structure of the apprenticeship and what academic and work requirements are placed on you through the course.
41. You may need to continue to be registered within the University after you complete your academic work, but before you complete the end course assessment.

Minimum and maximum periods of registration

42. We prescribe normal minimum and maximum lengths of registration. The minimum length reflects the quantity of learning necessary; the maximum length reflects the need to ensure the currency of your knowledge at graduation.
43. Normal minimum and maximum lengths of study are set out in course regulations.

Module selection

44. If you wish to change your module selection you must do so within four weeks of the normal course instance enrolment or re-enrolment date, unless there are exceptional circumstances which are agreed by us.

Tuition Fees

45. You must ensure that your tuition fees are paid in respect of your study with us.
46. If you owe us tuition fees, we will always seek to enable you to continue to study whilst arrangements for payments are made, in line with the Fees and Debt Management Policy.
47. You remain liable for tuition fees with us until you have completed the withdrawal process and formally ceased to study with us.

Attendance, Engagement and Temporary Absence

48. Your attendance and engagement may be monitored and recorded. In some cases, attendance at some or all elements of a course may be mandatory. Where this is so, we will tell you. Failure to attend may then lead to failure in the module or course.
49. Where we have concerns that you are not engaging with your study, or where your attendance is not satisfactory, we will follow a set process to investigate and decide what action, if any, to take. The process will seek to work with you to help you to re-engage and to attend University again.
50. Our action as a result of concerns about engagement or attendance may include your enrolment with the University being suspended or you could be withdrawn.

Temporary absence

51. Our Temporary Absence Procedure sets out what you should do if you are going to be, or have been, absent from attendance at the University for more than three working days. The procedure sets out the evidence which you will need to show to support your application, and how we will decide whether to approve your application.
52. The minimum duration for which you can submit an application for leave of absence is three working days and maximum period is 20 working days per academic year.
53. If your absence is over 20 working days in an academic year you must interrupt your studies or withdraw from the course.

Withdrawal, transfer and interruption of studiesInterruption of studies

54. If you wish to take a break from your studies, you must let us know in line with our Extenuating Circumstances Regulations and Procedure. We will do our best to facilitate your break and your return to study, but we will need to have regard to the structure of your course and when in the period of study you wish to break, to determine the best approach to this.

Withdrawal from studies

55. If you wish to withdraw from the University you should let us know in line with our *Student Withdrawal Procedure*¹. We will support and advise you through the process, if you wish, via your Campus Advice Zone who can discuss with you the academic implications of you withdrawing.
56. In accordance with paragraph 47 above you will remain liable for tuition fees until you have completed the withdrawal process.
57. If you study at a partner institution and wish to withdraw, you should tell them. The Partner Institution is responsible for informing us.
58. The effective date of your withdrawal may not be earlier than the date on which you notify us of your intention to withdraw.
59. If we think that you may have withdrawn without notice, we will do our best to contact you to see if this is the case and to agree your effective date of withdrawal.
60. If you withdraw we will consider your achievements through assessment boards in the normal way, so that we can make any exit award which you may have earned and provide you with a transcript.
61. If you are studying on a Tier 4 visa, and withdraw from the University, our Tier 4 sponsorship will cease. You will then be required by the government to leave the UK, in line with the terms of your visa.

Transfer of course/institution

62. If you wish to transfer to another course within the University or to a course at another institution you should let us know using the appropriate University procedure.
63. Students studying on a Tier 4 visa are subject to UKVI transfer regulations and should seek advice from the Immigration and International Student Advice Team (ISSA) before submitting their course transfer request.
64. If you study at a partner institution and wish to transfer, you should tell them. The Partner Institution is responsible for informing us.

Supporting Your Learning

65. Please tell us if there is something that we could do to support your learning. If you do not tell us, we cannot help you. Your Personal Academic Coach (PAC) (or similar) will be able to help you access the support you need.
66. Where you let us know that you have a disability or condition recognised by the Equality Act (2010) we will make reasonable adjustments to enable you to complete your course successfully. Other circumstances may also be recognised by adjustments in this way.

¹ This form should also be used if you are an apprentice

67. Our adjustments may relate to a specific assessment or element of a course or may apply throughout your enrolment. This will depend upon the individual circumstances. In designing reasonable adjustments we will ensure that we can assess the learning outcomes for the module(s) concerned, and that you will be assessed on equivalent terms with other students on the module(s).
68. If your disability or condition changes during your study, and you let us know, we will review the adjustments we have put in place and change them if appropriate.

Assessment

69. To assess your progress and achievement of learning outcomes, courses include assessments – examinations, coursework, presentations and so on. Module specifications set out the specific arrangements for each course.
70. The University's Assessment for Learning Policy provides more detail on the University's approach to assessment.
71. The assessment for a module may consist of a number of individual components. Unless the course or module specification specifically states that you must pass individually one or more of these components, we will assess your overall performance in the module by your aggregate performance across all of the components within that module.
72. You are responsible for making sure that you understand the assessment regulations as published, for submitting work for assessment as required and on time, and for attending examinations and other formal assessment events.

Extenuating circumstances

73. If you feel that you have good cause for late submission, or failure to submit, our Extenuating Circumstances Regulations and Procedure set out what you should do and how we will consider your case.
74. If you consider that your personal circumstances may have affected your performance in any assessments and you wish us to take these into account you should let us know quickly. The Extenuating Circumstances Regulations and Procedure set out what you should do and how we will consider your case.

Late submission of coursework

75. If you fail to submit coursework on time, without extenuating circumstances, we will allow you a further five working days to submit the work, but this work will be awarded a maximum mark of 40%. If you fail to submit work within this five-day period, without extenuating circumstances, you will fail the assessment concerned and receive 0%.
76. The five-day grace period set out in paragraph 74 applies only to coursework, including projects. It does not apply to:
 - a. examinations, in class tests, presentations, clinical practice appraisals and performances.

- b. referred work or to work submitted as a first attempt during a resit period.
 - c. work where an extension has already been granted for extenuating circumstances.
77. We will advise you, when the work is set, whether the five working days late submission policy applies to the work.

Fitness to Study

78. We recognise the need to respond appropriately to situations where visible signs of illness, mental health difficulties, psychological, personality or emotional state may have a profoundly disruptive impact on the functioning of you and on the wellbeing of others around you.
79. Where we have concerns that you are not fit to study, we will follow a set procedure to investigate and to decide what action, if any, to take. The process will have a focus on supporting your learning, health and wellbeing. You can see the process we will follow in our Fitness to Study Regulations and Procedure.
80. We will always seek to make decisions under this procedure in discussion with you. Action taken by us under this procedure may include your enrolment with the University being suspended or you being withdrawn.

Academic Integrity

81. You are responsible for completing your assessments honestly and in accordance with the regulations.
82. If we find that you have committed any academic offence, for example cheating or plagiarism, in an attempt to gain unfair advantage for yourself, we will penalise you under the Academic Misconduct Regulations and Procedure.

Examination Rules

83. The following information provides candidate guidelines for University of South Wales examinations and the rules that candidates must abide by.

Examination Invigilators

84. Each examination venue will have one or more invigilators present; these are members of University staff whose responsibility it is to ensure the smooth running of examination venue. They ensure throughout the examination to ensure that all candidates abide by the examination regulations and that the University's academic standards are upheld.

Attendance at the examination venue

85. Candidates who fail to attend an examination without reasonable cause will result in the award of no marks for that examination. It is the responsibility of the candidate to be aware of the details of the examination timetable. If a candidate fails to attend as a result of illness, they should contact their Campus Advice Centre for guidance.

Entering the examination venue

- 86. Candidates must arrive at the examination venue at least fifteen minutes prior to the start of the examination. The examination invigilator will inform candidates when they are able to enter the examination venue.
- 87. In the event that a candidate is unavoidably late, candidates are exceptionally permitted to enter the examination venue up to one hour after the start time of the examination. If a candidate arrives more than one hour after the start time, they are not permitted to enter the examination venue. Candidates who attend at this time should report directly to their Campus Advice Centre.

Permitted items and materials

- 88. The rubric on the front of the examination paper will specify the exact items that are permitted for use during the examination.
- 89. A candidate may take to their desk only those items and materials that are expressly permitted for the examination they are sitting. It is the responsibility of the module lecturer to provide guidance to candidates about items and materials that are permitted to be taken into the examination, for example calculators, or specific text books. If calculators are permitted, these must be silent and not contain a database facility; their correct functioning is the responsibility of the candidate. If printed books are permitted these must be clean copies with no annotations unless otherwise stated.
- 90. Candidates should be aware that where additional materials are allowed (text books, calculators, etc) these will be checked by the Invigilator during the examination.
- 91. Dictionaries are not permitted unless specified on the examination paper.
- 92. All bags, coats, mobile phones, revision notes and any other electronic devices (including smart phones) must not be taken to the examination desk; they must be deposited in the designated space for belongings advised by the Invigilator. Candidates should only have essential writing equipment and their student/apprentice ID card on the desk, instrument containers and pencil cases are not permitted at the examination desk.
- 93. Candidates are only permitted to bring drinks in transparent bottles to the examination desks, foodstuffs are not permitted.
- 94. If a candidate chooses to wear a watch in the examination venue, these must be placed on the desk alongside the student/apprentice ID card. All examination venues will have a clock on display.

Examination Question Paper

- 95. Once advised to do so by the Invigilator, candidates should check the front sheet of the examination question paper to ensure that it is the paper they are expecting to sit. The front sheet will provide:

- the module information, code and title
- the duration of the examination
- details of any additional material that is permitted
- guidance on how many questions are to be answered (if applicable)
- instruction on whether the examination paper can be removed from the venue

96. If candidates have any queries about the information on the front of the question paper they should raise their hand and alert the Invigilator.

Examination answer booklet

97. The front cover of the answer booklet is the attendance and fit to sit confirmation. Candidates are required to complete all of the information on this form and detach for the Invigilator to collect.

98. The details on page 2 of the answer booklet also need to be fully completed by the candidate. All examinations are marked anonymously, candidates must enter their full name in the top right hand corner of the answer booklet, and seal down the flap to conceal the name and ensure anonymity. The seal will only be broken if there is doubt regarding ownership / illegibility of the answer booklet and will be done in the presence of the Dean of Faculty or nominee.

99. All answers must be written clearly in black or blue ink.

100. Examiners have the right to ignore a script which is deemed not legible script or have it typed with the expense of this being charged to the candidate.

101. Both sides of the paper are to be used, and no part of the answer booklet must be torn off (with the exception of the front cover). Any candidate requiring paper to continue to write should request this from an Invigilator.

102. Candidates must ensure that all submitted paperwork is appropriately marked with their student/apprentice ID number.

103. Candidates should ensure they start a new question on a new page.

104. Any rough workings must be entered in the answer books provided and be crossed through to show clearly that it is not intended as a submitted answer.

105. All answer booklets and any official continuation paper must be handed in, both used and unused. Under no circumstances should such paperwork be removed from the examination venue.

Candidate identity in the examination venue

106. Candidates must bring their student/apprentice ID card to the examination venue. The card should be placed on the top right hand corner of the desk, face up, where the invigilators can clearly see the photograph.

107. If a candidate attends without their student/apprentice ID card they should bring this to the attention of the Invigilator, and not seal down the flap until advised to do so. In this scenario the candidate will be unable to leave the examination venue until the end of the examination, and will be escorted to the Assessment and Awards Office to verify their identity.

Candidate conduct in the examination venue

108. During the examination candidates must act in accordance with any instructions provided by the Invigilator. Candidates must not:
- Communicate with anyone except the Invigilator during the examination
 - Open the examination question paper until told to do so by the Invigilator
 - Share any information with any other candidate during the examination
 - Use notes unless expressed told that this is possible
 - Continue writing when the Invigilator tells candidates not to do so
 - Behave in a way that is distracting to other candidates
 - Ignore a request from an Invigilator not to behave disruptively
109. If you fail to follow these guidelines you will be in breach of the Examination Regulations and will be asked to leave the venue by the Invigilator. This information will be reported to the Academic Misconduct panel.

Supervised absence from the examination venue

110. If a candidate requires attention they must raise their hand and wait until the Invigilator comes to them. A candidate is only able to leave the examination venue during an examination if they are escorted by an Invigilator; this includes visits to the toilet.

Leaving the examination venue

111. Candidates cannot leave the examination venue during the first hour or the last fifteen minutes of the examination. There is no re-admittance to the examination venue, candidates may leave and be re-admitted provided it is agreed and they are escorted by an Invigilator.
112. If a candidate leaves an examination due to illness they should contact their Advice Centre as soon as reasonably practicable for the appropriate guidance.
113. If a candidate wishes to leave the examination early, they must raise their hand to alert the Invigilator and remain seated until the answer booklet has been collected by the Invigilator. Candidates should leave as quietly as possible, especially where there are other candidates still working.
114. At the end of the examination candidates will be asked to remain seated and silent for further announcements and until all answer booklets are collected. You must not remove any answer booklets from the examination venue.

Academic misconduct

115. Candidates suspected of engaging in academic misconduct will have their answer booklets annotated accordingly by the Invigilator and any materials will be removed from their possession (if appropriate). The Invigilator will detail the suspected academic misconduct, which will then be considered under the Academic Misconduct Regulations and Procedure.

Fire alarms and emergency evacuation

116. If the fire alarm sounds during an examination, follow the Invigilators' instructions. Candidates will be under examination conditionals, therefore there must be no communicating with other candidates, use mobile phones or any other electronic devices. It is likely that the examination will continue once candidates have returned to the building.

Taking an examination at a different location to the place of study

117. You will normally take your examinations at the institution where you have studied.
118. We may permit you, exceptionally, to take examinations at an alternative examination centre, provided that we are confident that appropriate conditions exist in that centre.
119. You do not have a right to take examinations at an alternative examination centre, and we will consider each case individually.
120. If you wish to take your examinations at an alternative examination centre you must apply to us and must provide reasons with acceptable evidence for your request.
121. The only alternative examination venues we will consider are:
- a. an existing collaborative partner institution of the University where appropriate conditions for examinations have been established; or
 - b. a British Council office approved as an examination centre by Academic Registry.
122. Academic Registry, in consultation with faculties where appropriate, must confirm that the format of the examination is suitable for assessment at the approved examination centre.

Assessment through the medium of Welsh

123. If you wish to be assessed through the medium of Welsh, in a module which is taught and assessed in English, we will enable you to do so, provided that the arrangements set out in our Procedure for Assessing through the Medium of Welsh can be put in place.
124. We recommend that you tell us at the start of a module, and no later than three weeks before the submission deadline, if you wish to do this, in order to make the necessary arrangements.
125. We may not be able to assess you through the medium of Welsh for some types of assessment – for example group assessments, presentations, performances or practical examinations.

Marking and Grading

- 126. A narrow fail is a mark of between 30% and 39.9%. If you have this level of achievement you will be assigned an F1 grade.
- 127. A significant weakness/fail is defined as a mark of less than 30%. If you have this level of achievement you will be assigned an F2 grade.
- 128. If you meet the overall module learning outcomes with no significant weaknesses/fails, we will award you a pass grade.
- 129. We will identify in the module specification any specific learning outcome which must be passed in order for the module to be passed.
- 130. All modules are graded in accordance with the percentage scale.
- 131. We will only award you credit on the successful completion of a full module. We will not award you credit for completion of part of a module only.

Progression, retrieving failure and compensationProgression

- 132. Course regulations set out what you must do to progress from one level of your course to the next.
- 133. Progression requirements may include non-academic elements, such as professional competencies. These might be judged by an external organisation, such as a regulatory body or employer.

Retrieving failure – general

- 134. Unless we have agreed that you have extenuating circumstances, and unless your Course Regulations state otherwise, you have a maximum of four attempts at a module:
 - a. your first attempt,
 - b. a resit of your first attempt, if permitted
 - c. repeating the module
 - d. a resit of your repeat module, if permitted.

Retrieving failure – resits

- 135. A resit is defined as an opportunity to pass a module without further teaching input.
- 136. You do not have an automatic right to resit a failed module: we will make a judgment about your overall academic progress, in line with paragraphs 141 and 143 below.

137. If we require you to resit a module, you only need to retake the elements of the assessment which you failed. If you do not resit a failed element, we will give you a mark of 0% for that element.
138. You must take the resit at the earliest available opportunity. Most resits are held during the resit period. However, where a subject assessment board determines that this is not possible, for example because the assessment requires studio facilities or involves group work, it is held in the following academic session. The exact length of the resit period should be at the discretion of the Board.
139. We will only require you to resit a module where you have failed it. We will not require you to resit any passed modules. You may not resit a module you have passed, in order to improve your grade.
140. The regulations for passing a resit module will be the same as at the first attempt. We will not cap marks for individual elements, but the overall module mark for any resit module will be capped at the pass mark for the module.
141. If you have not submitted any assessment for a module, and therefore receive a module mark of 0%, you are not allowed a resit. The only exception to this is where the module has only one element of assessment, and in this case we may exercise discretion to allow you to resit, subject to paragraphs 141 and 143 below.
142. If you have passed at least 50% of the credits you have taken in the academic year, we will permit you to resit the failed modules subject to paragraph 141 above.
143. Note that if you are progressing from level 3 to level 4 with 100 credits, failed modules do not need to be repeated.
144. If you have failed more than 50% of the credits taken in any one academic year you may be required to repeat the period of study. We may exceptionally permit you to resit to better manage your programme of study – for example if a module is not available in the following year.
145. If you are studying only one module in an academic year, you have the right to a resit in that module subject to paragraph 141 above.
146. Where there are approved extenuating circumstances, students have the right to be assessed as if for the first time, even if they have passed the element of assessment and/or the module. Where a student elects to exercise this right, if the new mark is worse than that of a previously passed assessment, the previous mark will stand unless the student has completed a substitute module, or the Board judges that the Learning Outcomes have changed to such a degree as to render the previous assessment no longer valid.

Retrieving failure – repeat modules

147. You do not have the automatic right to repeat any failed module. However, where you fail or fail to attempt a resit, the award and progression assessment board may permit you to repeat the failed module or modules.

148. During the repeat of the module, the regulations that apply will be the current ones, not those in force when you first attempted the module.
149. With the exception of the overall module mark being capped at the pass mark, repeat modules are treated as if you are taking them for the first time. Thus:
- a. If you are repeating a module we expect you to take all elements of assessments for that module: you may not carry forward elements of assessment which you passed at the first attempt;
 - b. If you fail a repeated module you are subject to the resit regulations, including the right of resit.
150. If the module is not available in the year in which you are due to repeat it, we may offer another module providing the learning outcomes of the course are still met. This is called substitution. You do not have a right to repeat the same module.
151. You may also request to substitute a module, providing that it is not a module which must be passed in order to meet the course learning outcomes and providing the new module choice is aligned to the course learning outcomes.
152. You may repeat a module only once. A substitution is counted as a second attempt.
153. If you fail to progress to the next level or stage of the course, we will not ask you to repeat a module for which you have gained credit.
154. You cannot repeat a module for which you have already gained credit, in order to improve a grade.
155. With regards to what is deemed necessary to require major amendments such as a topic amendment and to which minor amendments, the suggestion is that dissertations follow the repeat rule, if it has been attempted but not at a pass mark, allow minor amendments on the original topic. For those that are repeating not resitting to be required to have a new topic. Both options would require the support of a supervisor, and where possible the original supervisor for continuity.

Compensation in cases of partial failure

156. We may, at our discretion, decide that your overall performance compensates for any partial failure, in accordance with the compensation regulations set out below. This decision will be taken by the relevant award and progression assessment board.
157. If you fail a core module (that is, a module which was approved at validation as being essential to pass in order to achieve the award) we will not compensate your failure in that module. You must retrieve any failure in a core module at the earliest opportunity.
158. Compensation is normally limited as follows:
- a. 20 credits per level of an undergraduate course (HNC/HND/FD/Honours degree);

- b. 20 credits during a postgraduate course (there is no compensation for a Master's degree dissertation).
159. Where we decide to compensate your failure in a module or modules, we will record your module grade as PC (Pass by Compensation) but your module mark will not be changed.
160. Where we are considering compensating your failure in a module or modules, we will offer you the choice of accepting compensation or exercising any right to resit which you may have. We will explain to you the consequences of either choice. This is because in certain circumstances a compensated module could adversely affect your overall award outcome.

Compensation rules for full-time undergraduates

161. To compensate 20 F1 credits, you must normally have passed the remaining 100 credits at that level (see paragraph 158 above).
162. At levels 3 and 4 only, to compensate 20 F2 credits graded 20% or more (in this case a significant weakness is below 20% if applicable), you must have passed the remaining 100 credits at that level and have achieved an average mark of 50% or more in these 100 credits (see paragraph 158 above).

Compensation rules for part-time undergraduates

163. To compensate 20 F1 credits, you must have passed 40 credits within a level; no further compensation will be allowed within that level (see paragraph 158 above).
164. At levels 3 and 4 only, to compensate 20 F2 credits graded 20% or more (in this case a significant weakness is below 20% if applicable), you must have passed 40 credits at that level and have achieved an average mark of 50% or more in these 40 credits. No further compensation will be allowed within that level (see paragraph 158 above).

Compensation rules for full-time postgraduates

165. If you are studying for a Masters or a PgDip, to compensate 20 F1 credits, you must normally have passed 100 credits on the postgraduate course and at least 40 of these 100 credits must be at 50% or above (see paragraph 158 above).
166. If you are studying for a PgCert, to compensate 20 F1 credits, you must normally have passed 40 credits on the postgraduate course at 50% or above (see paragraph 158 above).

Compensation rules for part-time postgraduates

167. To compensate 20 F1 credits, you must normally have passed at least 40 credits on the postgraduate course at 50% or above; no further compensation will be allowed within that level (see paragraph 158 above).
168. In the case of postgraduate courses which contain some level 6 credits, 'level' in paragraph 167 above includes both the level 6 and 7 credits comprising the course.

Award of qualifications

The conferment of awards

169. We will confer only those awards approved by Academic Board and named in its Framework for Academic Awards.
170. Each approved course is described through the University's credit framework in terms of the extent and the level of the credits required for its completion.
171. We will award you the qualification for which you have been studying if:
- a. You have accumulated the required number of credits at the specified levels; and
 - b. You are properly enrolled on the course, including having paid all tuition fees for the course; and
 - c. You have followed the set programme of study comprising that course; and
 - d. You have been assessed according to the University regulations.
172. In agreeing the appropriate award for you, we will take into account the relevant completion and classification regulations, the distribution of grades, your academic development during the course, and any recommendations made by the extenuating circumstances panels.
173. If your award is classified, we will do so at the end of the period in which you attain the minimum credit required for the award, as specified in the Awards Framework.
174. For apprenticeships, our degree award may precede the completion of the apprenticeship, including the end point assessment.

Aegrotat and Posthumous awards

175. If you are unable to complete the final assessment through illness we may, if you agree, consider you for the award of an aegrotat degree (an unclassified degree).
176. Any degree or other award may be conferred posthumously if the Progression and Award Board considers that the normal conditions of the award have been met, or that there is evidence that the candidate's achievement was such that they would have been met.

Student² Conduct

177. Your behaviour in relation to other students, to staff, to the wider community and in respect of academic honesty must meet our expectations. Our Student Charter and Student Code of Conduct tells you more.
178. We expect your behaviour to show:

² The definition of 'student' in these regulations includes 'apprentice.'

- a. Courtesy and respect for others
 - b. Diligence in study
 - c. Academic honesty: not seeking to misrepresent or cheat in assessments; acknowledging others' intellectual contributions towards work submitted for assessment; submitting only your own work for assessment.
 - d. Professionalism, including when on placements.
179. Where we have concerns that your behaviour does not meet the expected standards, we will follow a set process to investigate and decide what action, if any, to take. You can see the processes we may follow in our student casework regulations and procedures.
180. Action taken by us as a result of a complaint about you being upheld after due process may include your enrolment with the University being suspended or your withdrawal.

Complaints and appeals

181. If you wish to complain about any aspect of our provision, our student casework regulations tell you how to do this.
182. If you wish to appeal against a judgement made about your academic progress, our student casework regulations tell you how to do this.

Collaborative Provision

183. We may offer degrees, degree apprenticeships, diplomas and certificates in partnership with one or more other institutions.
184. The collaborative agreement for any such arrangement will set out our responsibilities and those of the other partner(s). Where we have responsibility under any such agreement for the academic standards or the quality of learning and teaching, these regulations, or agreed variations which conform to the principles of these regulations, will apply.

A2: Undergraduate Course Regulations

Introduction

1. In these regulations, as context demands, “you” and “your” mean the student, apprentice or the applicant; “we”, “us”, “our” and “ourselves” mean the University of South Wales or the Royal Welsh College of Music and Drama (RWCMD) as appropriate.
2. These are the course regulations for all undergraduate degrees (including integrated Master’s degrees) of the University of South Wales:
 - a. Certificates and Diplomas of Higher Education
 - b. Foundation degrees
 - c. Edexcel awards – HND and HNC
 - d. Bachelor’s degrees (including degree apprenticeships)
 - e. Graduate Certificates and Diplomas
 - f. Integrated Master’s degrees
3. They should be read alongside the General Regulations for Taught Courses, which also apply to you.
4. These regulations tell you what we will do to provide programmes of study, and what you must do as a student or apprentice. They form an important part of the contract between us, and will not change without your involvement (which may be by the Students’ Union acting on your behalf). We review these regulations at the end of every academic year. We will let you know at re-enrolment if there are any changes.

Admissions

5. Our minimum entry criteria, and our expected entry requirements for individual courses, are set out on our webpages and prospectus, and via the UCAS website.

Courses that Require Referral to the Disclosure and Barring Services (DBS)

6. For courses that require DBS check clearance, you must submit your DBS application within 14 days of the start date, or your transfer date to the course. Sufficient clearance is required for you to remain enrolled on your course. If you do not start your DBS application within the 14 days, or subsequently do not disclose new information that could affect the clearance required to undertake your course, we reserve the right to take any appropriate action which may include cancelling your enrolment. You may still be liable for tuition fees until the date of your withdrawal, in line with the University’s Fees and Debt Policy.

Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL)

7. The maximum exemptions which you can apply for are outlined in the table below.
8. Transferred credit is credit recognised under RPL for Exemption which is credit awarded and accredited by an institution or body other than ourselves. This transferred credit is classified as prior certificated learning irrespective of whether the credit was obtained from taught modules or from accredited prior experiential learning approved by that institution or body. Transferred credit can only be used for awards listed in the table below and must be at the appropriate level. Marks are not allocated for transferred credit.

9. Experiential credit is credit awarded under RPL for Accreditation by the University of South Wales and is classed as prior experiential learning. Marks may be allocated for experiential learning.
10. University of South Wales taught credit is credit achieved from taught University of South Wales modules which includes distance learning and work-based learning modules.
11. Grading of University of South Wales awards is based on marks achieved in University of South Wales credit (taught or experiential learning) only and subject to any additional restrictions in the table below.
12. In some instances, Professional, Statutory or Regulatory Boards (PSRBs) may have additional requirements which must be met in order to achieve an accredited qualification. "Accreditation" may involve alternative types of recognition.

Award	Level	Transferred or Experiential credit (maximum)	University of South Wales taught credit (minimum)	Total credits required for award	Additional Restrictions
CertHE	4	60	60 at L4	120	Not graded when used as an exit award

Major/minor, joint and combined subject choices

14. In addition to the single subject undergraduate courses, we may develop stand-alone courses leading to major, minor and joint honours degrees.
15. The courses consist of the following:
 - a. a major subject course comprises 80 credits at each of levels 5 and 6;
 - b. a minor subject course comprises 40 credits at each of levels 5 and 6;
 - c. a joint subject course comprises 60 credits at each of levels 5 and 6;
 - d. a combined subject course comprises three subjects, each comprising 40 credits at each of levels 5 and 6.

Marking scales

16. The undergraduate marking scale aligns the grades with recognised degree classifications and Edexcel grades as in the table below.

Code	Grade (%)	Description	Honours degree equivalent	Edexcel equivalent
	70-100	Pass	First	Distinction
	60-69.9	Pass	Upper second	Merit
	50-59.9	Pass	Lower second	Pass
	40-49.9	Pass	Third	Pass
F1	30-39.9	Fail: a narrow fail (can be compensated)	Fail	Fail
F2	0-29.9	Fail: a clear failure (cannot be compensated except at level 4)	Fail	Fail

17. The Edexcel scale describes the conversion between the University undergraduate scale and Edexcel grades.

University grade	HND/C Grade	Criteria	Outcome
70-100	D	Distinction	Pass
60-69.9	M	Merit	Pass
40-59.9	P	Pass	Pass
30-39.9	F1	A narrow failure
0-29.9	F2	A clear failure

Progression and reassessment

18. You must normally accumulate 120 credits in order to progress from one undergraduate level to the next.
19. You may continue at the same level of your course providing you pass at least 50% of the credits taken in the academic session.
20. Each integrated Master's course will define the particular level of achievement required for progression in the specific course.
21. If you fail to pass 120 credits at the relevant level of study, we will decide whether and how you may continue your studies, in line with the following four choices:

- a. The award and progression assessment board may allow you to progress to the next level of the course and repeat the failed modules (up to a maximum of 20 credits) in addition to your normal programme of study. (Note that if you are progressing from level 3 to level 4 with 100 credits, failed modules do not need to be repeated.)
 - b. The award and progression assessment board may allow you to remain at the same level (repeat year) and either
 - i. repeat the failed modules and take additional modules. (Any higher level modules may only be taken if any pre-requisite modules have been completed satisfactorily); or
 - ii. repeat the failed modules only
 - c. With the agreement of the award and progression assessment board, you may substitute another module in place of one failed, provided that the requirements of your courses are maintained. Substitution is restricted as follows:
 - i. 20 credits per level of an undergraduate course (HNC/HND/FD/Honours degree);
 - ii. 20 credits per level of an integrated Master's course

The award and progression assessment board will confirm appropriate substitute modules.
 - d. If the award and progression assessment board is satisfied that you have failed in such a way as to suggest there is no possibility of successful completion of the course, you will have failed the course and we will end your registration as a student/apprentice. You may not be re-admitted to the same or similar course. Readmission to the same course or the same subject area will only be in truly exceptional circumstances (e.g. mental health issues that were not previously understood). Whether a course is 'similar' or not will be the judgement of the Admissions and Academic course team, taking into account potential overlap of content and the subject area. The decision will consider extra evidence that was not able to be taken account of when the Assessment Board made the original decision to discontinue you from your course.
- 22. If you are allowed to re-enter the same course, you will be treated as a repeating student or apprentice, where permitted. If you enter a new course in a new subject area, you will be treated as a new student or apprentice, where permitted.
 - 23. If you are repeating study you will be governed by current regulations and not those in force when you first attempted the module or year of study.
 - 24. You may only take the number of credits required to achieve the award. You may not take additional credits in order to improve a classification.

Eligibility for awardsEdexcel awards

25. HNC and HND awards can only be conferred on you if you have no more than 40 or 20 credits respectively graded at PC over the total of your course.

Work experience-based awards

26. We confer foundation degrees, the Employment Experience Diploma and Employment Experience Certificate as awards based primarily or significantly upon work experience. This is distinct from those awards which contain either work-experience or key skills as essential elements, for example sandwich, HNC and HND awards.

Foundation degrees

27. To be eligible for the award of a foundation degree you must have achieved 240 credits, of which at least 100 must be at Level 5 (Intermediate) or above and the remaining credits at level 4 or above. Of the 240 credits, 60 credits must be derived from level 5 work-based learning.

Employment Experience Certificate

28. The Employment Experience Certificate is credit-rated as 60 Placement (P) credits
29. To be eligible for the award of the Employment Experience Certificate you must complete a minimum of fifteen weeks (six hundred hours) experience that is deemed relevant and appropriate to a specific course.
30. You must also have acquired 120 or more credits, of which at least 100 are at Level 4 or above, with no more than 20 at Level 3.

Employment Experience Diploma

31. The Employment Experience Diploma is credit-rated as 120 P credits.
32. To be eligible for the award of the Employment Experience Diploma you must complete a minimum of thirty weeks (one thousand two hundred hours) experience that is deemed relevant and appropriate to a specific course.
33. You must also have acquired 120 or more credits, of which at least 100 are at Level 4 or above, with no more than 20 at Level 3.

Classification of honours degrees

34. To classify your award we will calculate an average mark using the following two methods:
- a. Method 1: Calculate the average of the marks from the 180 credits obtained from the best 60 credits at level 5 and the 120 credits at level 6.
 - b. Method 2: Calculate the average of the marks from the 120 level 6 credits.

35. We will then classify your degree using the higher of the two averages calculated by the methods described in paragraph 34 above and award a classification based on the following table:

Mean %	Classification
At least 69.5% up to 100%	First Class Honours Degree
At least 59.5% and less than 69.5%	Upper Second Class Honours Degree
At least 49.5% and less than 59.5%	Lower Second Class Honours Degree
At least 39.5% and less than 49.5%	Third Class Honours Degree

36. If you have passed 360 credits with only 100 at level 6, we will calculate the average of all level 5 modules (whether 100, 120 or 140 credits) and count this as 20 credits at level 6. We will then use Method 2 in paragraph 34 above to calculate an average mark and award a classification accordingly.
37. If you have passed 360 credits with 140 at level 6, we will calculate the average over all 140 level 6 credits and this average will be weighted as 120 credits. We will then use Method 1 in paragraph 34 above to calculate an average mark and award a classification accordingly.
38. If you registered as a student at the final degree stage or entered the final degree stage by 'topping up' from an HND or Foundation degree awarded by the University of South Wales, we will classify your award using Method 2 in paragraph 34 above only.

Classification of HNC, HND and Foundation Degrees

HNC

39. We will calculate the average of all credits comprising the award.
40. We will award
- a distinction if your average is 69.5% or more
 - a merit if your average is 59.5% or more and less than 69.5%.
 - a pass if your average is 39.5% or more and less than 59.5%.

HND and Foundation Degrees

41. We will calculate the average of all level 5 credits comprising the award
42. We will award:
- a distinction if your average is 69.5% or more
 - a merit if your average is 59.5% or more and less than 69.5%.
 - a pass if your average is 39.5% or more and less than 59.5%.

Classification of Integrated Master's awards

43. To classify your award we will calculate an average mark using the following two methods:
- a. Method 1: Calculate the average of the marks from the 180 credits obtained from the best 60 credits at level 6 and the 120 credits at level 7.
 - b. Method 2: Calculate the average of the marks from the 120 level 7 credits.
44. We will then classify your degree using the higher of the two averages calculated by the methods described in paragraph 43 above and award a classification as follows:
- a. a Distinction if your average is 69.5% or more
 - b. a Merit if your average is 59.5% or more and less than 69.5%.
 - c. a Pass if your average is 39.5% or more and less than 59.5%.

A3: Taught Postgraduate Course Regulations

Introduction

1. In these regulations, as context demands, “you” and “your” mean the student, apprentice or the applicant; “we”, “us”, “our” and “ourselves” mean the University of South Wales or the Royal Welsh College of Music and Drama (RWCMD) as appropriate.
2. These are the course regulations for all taught postgraduate degrees and awards of the University of South Wales:
 - a. Postgraduate Certificate and Diploma
 - b. Postgraduate Certificate in Education
 - c. Master’s degrees excluding Integrated Master’s degrees
3. They should be read alongside the General Regulations for Taught Courses, which also apply to you.
4. These regulations tell you what we will do to provide programmes of study, and what you must do as a student or apprentice. They form an important part of the contract between us, and will not change without your involvement (which may be by the Students’ Union acting on your behalf). We review these regulations at the end of every academic year. We will let you know at re-enrolment if there are any changes.

Admissions

5. Our minimum entry criteria, and our expected entry requirements for individual courses, are set out on our webpages and prospectus.

Courses that Require Referral to the Disclosure and Barring Services (DBS)

6. For courses that require DBS check clearance, you must submit your DBS application within 14 days of the start date, or your transfer date to the course. Sufficient clearance is required for you to remain enrolled on your course. If you do not start your DBS application within the 14 days, or subsequently do not disclose new information that could affect the clearance required to undertake your course, we reserve the right to take any appropriate action which may include cancelling your enrolment. You may still be liable for tuition fees until the date of your withdrawal, in line with the University’s Fees and Debt Policy.

Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL)

7. The maximum exemptions which you can apply for are outlined in the table below.
8. Transferred credit is credit recognised under RPL for Exemption which is credit awarded and accredited by an institution or body other than ourselves. This transferred credit is classified as prior certificated learning irrespective of whether the credit was obtained from taught modules or from accredited prior experiential learning approved by that institution or body. Transferred credit can only be used for awards listed in the table below and must be at the appropriate level. Marks are not allocated for transferred credit.

9. Experiential credit is credit awarded under RPL for Accreditation by the University of South Wales and is classed as prior experiential learning. Marks may be allocated for experiential learning.
10. University of South Wales taught credit is credit achieved from taught University of South Wales modules which includes distance learning and work based learning modules.
11. Grading of University of South Wales awards is based on marks achieved in University of South Wales credit (taught or experiential learning) only and subject to any additional restrictions in the table below.
12. In some instances, Professional, Statutory or Regulatory Boards (PSRBs) may have additional requirements which must be met in order to achieve an accredited qualification. "Accreditation" may involve alternative types of recognition.

Marking scales

14. The postgraduate scale, in the table below, is used for all taught, Master's level courses.

Code	Grade (%)	Description	Outcome
	70-100	Pass with Distinction	Pass
	60-69.9	Pass with Merit	Pass
	40-59.9	Pass	Pass
F1	30-39.9	Fail: a narrow failure (can be compensated)	Fail
F2	0-29.9	Fail: a clear failure (cannot be compensated)	Fail

Progression and reassessment

15. Progression and award points may vary depending on the mode of delivery and could be at PgCert stage, PgDip stage and Master's stage.
16. You may continue at the same stage of your course providing you pass at least 50% of the credits taken in the academic session.
17. If you fail to pass all of the credits at the relevant progression point, we will decide whether and how you may continue your studies, in line with the following four choices:
- The award and progression assessment board may allow you to progress to the next stage of the course and repeat the failed modules alongside the normal programme for the period of study.

³ For Masters courses which are validated to run full-time over two years, due to substantial placement/clinical/work-based requirements, the minimum registration period would be FT 2 years and PT 3 years and the maximum registration period would be FT 3 years and PT 5 years.

- b. The award and progression assessment board may allow you to remain at the same stage and repeat the failed modules
 - c. With the agreement of the award and progression assessment board, you may substitute another module in place of one failed, provided that the requirements of your course are maintained. The award and progression assessment board will confirm appropriate substitute modules which must enable you to still achieve the learning outcomes of your course.
 - d. If the award and progression assessment board is satisfied that you have failed in such a way as to suggest there is no possibility of successful completion of the course, you will have failed the course and we will end your registration as a student/apprentice. You may not be re-admitted to the same or similar course. Readmission to the same course or the same subject area will only be in truly exceptional circumstances (e.g. mental health issues that were not previously understood). Whether a course is 'similar' or not will be the judgement of the Admissions and Academic course team, taking into account potential overlap of content and the subject area. The decision will consider extra evidence that was not able to be taken account of when the Assessment Board made the original decision to discontinue you from your course.
- 18. If you are allowed to re-enter the same course, you will be treated as a repeating student or apprentice, where permitted. If you enter a new course in a new subject area, you will be treated as a new student or apprentice, where permitted.
 - 19. If you are repeating study you will be governed by current regulations and not those in force when you first attempted the module or year of study.
 - 20. You may only take the number of credits required to achieve the award. You may not take additional credits in order to improve a classification.

A4: Course Regulations – Royal Welsh College of Music and Drama

Introduction

1. In these regulations, as context demands, “you” and “your” mean the student or the applicant; “we”, “us”, “our” and “ourselves” mean the University of South Wales or the Royal Welsh College of Music and Drama (RWCMD) as appropriate.
2. These are the course regulations for all programmes at the Royal Welsh College of Music and Drama.
3. They should be read alongside the General Regulations for Taught Courses, which also apply to you.
4. These regulations tell you what we will do to provide programmes of study, and what you must do as a student. They form an important part of the contract between us, and will not change without your involvement (which may be by the Students’ Union acting on your behalf). We review these regulations at the end of every academic year. We will let you know at re-enrolment if there are any changes.

Admissions

5. Our minimum entry criteria, and our expected entry requirements for individual courses, are set out on our webpages and prospectus, and via the UCAS website and may include Disclosure and Barring Services (DBS) checks.

Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL)

6. The maximum exemptions which you can apply for are outlined in the table below.
7. Transferred credit is credit recognised under RPL for Exemption which is credit awarded and accredited by an institution or body other than ourselves. This transferred credit is classified as prior certificated learning irrespective of whether the credit was obtained from taught modules or from accredited prior experiential learning approved by that institution or body. Transferred credit can only be used for awards listed in the table below and must be at the appropriate level. Marks are not allocated for transferred credit.
8. Experiential credit is credit awarded under RPL for Accreditation by the University of South Wales and is classed as prior experiential learning. Marks may be allocated for experiential learning.
9. University of South Wales taught credit is credit achieved from taught University of South Wales modules which includes distance learning and work based learning modules.
10. Grading of University of South Wales awards is based on marks achieved in University of South Wales credit (taught or experiential learning) only and subject to any additional restrictions in the table below.

Classification of honours degrees

BA Stage Management and Technical Theatre, BA Design for Performance and BA Acting

36. To classify your award we will calculate an average mark using the following two methods:
- Method 1: Calculate the average of the marks from the 180 credits obtained from the best 60 credits at level 5 and the 120 credits at level 6.

- i. For the BA Stage Management and the BA stage Management and Technical Theatre, the 60 credits at level 5 must include the mark for the 40 credits for the production placement module.
- ii. For the BA Design for Performance the 60 credits at level 5 must be the marks from the 60 credit production modules.
- iii. For the BA Acting, the 60 credits at level 5 must be taken from the best 20 credit modules.

b. Method 2: Calculate the average of the marks from the 120 level 6 credits.

37. We will then classify your degree using the higher of the two averages calculated by the methods described in paragraph 34 above and award a classification based on the following table:

Mean %	Classification
At least 69.5% up to 100%	First Class Honours Degree
At least 59.5% and less than 69.5%	Upper Second Class Honours Degree
At least 49.5% and less than 59.5%	Lower Second Class Honours Degree
At least 40% and less than 49.5%	Third Class Honours Degree

BMus Music and BMus Jazz

38. To classify your award we will calculate an average mark using the following two methods:

- a. Method 1: Calculate the average of the marks from the 270 credits obtained from the best 90 credits at level 5 and the 180 credits at level 6.
 - i. For the BMus Music the 90 credits at level 5 must include the mark for the 40 credit Repertoire and Style (MUS301) module.
 - ii. For the BMus Jazz the 90 credits at level 5 must include the mark for the 40 credit Jazz Repertoire and Style (MUJ301) module.

b. Method 2: Calculate the average of the marks from the 180 level 6 credits.

39. We will then classify your degree using the higher of the two averages calculated by the methods described in paragraph 34 above and award a classification based on the following table:

Mean %	Classification
At least 69.5% up to 100%	First Class Honours Degree
At least 59.5% and less than 69.5%	Upper Second Class Honours Degree
At least 49.5% and less than 59.5%	Lower Second Class Honours Degree

A5: Exceptional Arrangement Regulations

Section 1

Introduction

1. The University takes all reasonable steps to ensure that teaching and assessment activity continues and that the marks for student assessment are available to assessment boards. However, in cases where the academic business of the University is disrupted by incidents such as natural disaster, disease, acts of terrorism, fire, flood or industrial action⁴, it is necessary to have Exceptional Arrangement Regulations which can be invoked by the Vice-Chancellor.
2. The University wishes to ensure that decisions about your progression or final awards are as timely as possible. The measures outlined below are intended to give you the best possible outcomes given the constraints that may be imposed upon the University.
3. These Regulations will cover all courses but where courses are governed by PSRB Professional, Statutory and Regulatory Body (PSRB) requirements, these requirements may need to take precedence over the Exceptional Arrangement Regulations.

Section 2

Key Principles

4. Your academic outcome shall not be disadvantaged by the exceptional incident.
5. Consideration will be given as to whether there is sufficient evidence to demonstrate that you have achieved the learning outcomes for your course at the appropriate level in order for you to progress your studies or complete them.
6. Academic standards and professional requirements will remain of paramount importance to us.
7. You will be treated in a fair and equitable manner.

⁴ These are examples and not an exhaustive list.

Section 3

Use of Exceptional Arrangement Regulations

8. The Academic Registrar will request that the Exceptional Arrangement Regulations are invoked by the Vice-Chancellor.
9. These regulations will take precedence over other academic regulations relating to student assessment, classification and progression, including the Regulations for Taught Courses and the Student Casework Regulations and Procedures.

Section 4

Force Majeure* that impacts teaching and assessment

10. There may be circumstances in which teaching and learning activity cannot take place as planned and/or scheduled. The University will endeavour to organise alternative arrangements for you to minimise the impact to your planned learning, teaching and assessment.
11. In the case of more serious circumstances that have impacted, or are likely to impact, the University for a lengthier period of time, the University may revise the Examinations Timetable and Assessment Schedule. It may remove assessments if it is feasible to do so, or defer it to a later period, or replace these with alternative assessments, where this is appropriate.

Section 5

Force Majeure* leading to missing marks or moderation

12. There may be circumstances that lead to missing marks, for example, if a significant number of you are not able to engage with assessments due to the emergency circumstances.
13. In such circumstances, assessment boards will normally consider whether there is enough information available to determine final outcomes. Please see the following sections.
14. It may be necessary to adjust standard marking and moderation procedures in line with these Exceptional Arrangement Regulations.

Section 6

Decision-making at Boards

15. Where possible, boards will convene at the scheduled times, regardless of any potential limits of the availability of information which may impact on the ability of the board to confirm outcomes. However, there may be circumstances where it becomes necessary to reschedule boards, in which case, the Academic Registrar (or nominee) will propose an alternative schedule which will be considered for approval by the Quality Assurance Committee.
16. The following will apply, except where courses are governed by professional, statutory and regulatory (PSRB) requirements, in which case those requirements may need to take precedence.

Subject Assessment Board

17. Normally, credit is only awarded on completion of a full module. However, under these Exceptional Arrangement Regulations, where marks are missing for elements of assessment due for submission after the emergency circumstances began, academic judgement may be used at the discretion of the Subject Assessment Board to determine a mark for missing elements. This decision will be based on the extent to which it has been possible to evidence that you have achieved the learning outcomes for the module at the appropriate level. This will include your performance in other elements across the module and your participation in the module overall.
18. Consideration will also be given to the extent to which the emergency circumstances impacted your performance in assessment completed and submitted after the event began.

Progression and Award Board

Progressing Students

19. If you are progressing, but not completing your qualification, and it is possible to evidence that you have achieved the learning outcomes at the appropriate level, the Progression Board will permit you to progress to the next level of study.
20. Where it is not possible to evidence that you have achieved the learning outcomes at the appropriate level, you will receive information about resit options.
21. Where the module credit awarded by the Subject Assessment Board will ultimately form part of the classification of the qualification, you will be permitted, exceptionally, to resit any assessment that had a deadline for submission after the emergency situation commenced, as a means of improving your grade. Should you choose to do so, you will receive the higher of the two marks for each assessment and will therefore not be penalised if the resit submission receives a lower mark than the original submission. Exceptionally, the overall module mark will not be capped.
22. The normal compensation rules allow for credits to be compensated. The assessment boards will be allowed to consider additional discretion in applying these rules, whilst ensuring that learning outcomes have been demonstrably met.

Award of Qualification to Completing Students

23. The award of a final qualification is normally dependant on your accumulation of all necessary credit for that award. However, for the duration of these Exceptional Arrangements, Award Assessment Boards may permit impacted students at the final level of a degree (or other qualification) to be considered for a final award. This will be based on the academic judgement about the extent to which it is possible to evidence that you have achieved the learning outcomes at the appropriate level.
24. As part of its considerations, a board may also consider you for the award of an aegrotat degree (an unclassified degree), where appropriate.
25. Where sufficient information on assessment is available and you have failed, the Award Board will make a decision using the University's standard regulations.
26. If you are dissatisfied with your classification, you will be permitted, exceptionally, to resit assessment that had a deadline for submission after the emergency situation commenced, as a means of improving your grade. Should you choose to do so, you will receive the higher of the two marks for each assessment and will therefore not be penalised if the resit submission receives a lower mark than the original submission. Exceptionally, the overall module mark will not be capped.

Section 7

Amendments to extenuating circumstances procedure in the case of a force majeure

27. In the case of a major event/issue affecting a large number of students, eg, a pandemic virus situation, the Academic Registrar will consider the impact and may make an announcement via UniLife and Blackboard with an agreed university-wide or, where appropriate, campus-specific course of action. Details on evidence required during significant events will be confirmed by the Academic Registrar (or nominee) during the crisis.
28. The constitution of the Extenuating Circumstances Panel will be amended as deemed appropriate by the Academic Registrar.
29. The Academic Registrar (or nominee) will have responsibility for approving any additional amendments as required.

Section 8

Amendments to academic misconduct procedure in the case of a force majeure

30. In the case of a force majeure, the constitution of the Academic Misconduct and Request for Review panels will be amended as deemed appropriate.

Specific information related to the current Covid -19 pandemic

31. If you require a revised date to a meeting due to having caught the COVID-19 illness, you must advise the Student Administration team as soon as possible. A meeting will not be rearranged until the Student Administration team has received further confirmation from you in writing that you are well enough for it to be rearranged. The Student Administration team will rearrange the meeting for the earliest possible date depending on availability. As per the current regulations and procedure, you are able to submit a written statement instead of attending a meeting if you prefer for it to go ahead in your absence. If you do not advise the Student Administration team that you are unable to attend the meeting due to the COVID-19 illness, and do not attend the meeting, it will take place in your absence.

32. The University's normal timescales may have to be extended; however, we will try to minimise disruption so far as is possible.

33. If you are studying at partner institutions, you should be aware that partner institutions might be required to implement different procedures in response to the current situation. The University will work with our partners to ensure that any such disruption is as minimal as can be reasonably expected.

34. The Academic Registrar (or nominee) will have responsibility for approving any additional amendments as required.

Section 9

Amendments to non-academic disciplinary procedures

Student Code of Conduct

35. If you do not comply with self-isolating guidelines/requirements, you may be subject to action under the Student Conduct Procedure.

Student Conduct Procedure / Fitness to Practise Procedure

36. The Academic Registrar (or nominee) will have responsibility for approving any amendments to the constitution of committees/panels as required.

A6: Course Regulations – Other Awards

Introduction

45. In these regulations, as context demands, “you” and “your” mean the student, apprentice or the applicant; “we”, “us”, “our” and “ourselves” mean the University of South Wales or the Royal Welsh College of Music and Drama (RWCMD) as appropriate.
46. These are the course regulations for certificates and other awards of the University of South Wales:
 - a. University Certificate of Credit
 - b. University Foundation Certificate
 - c. University Certificate
 - d. University Higher Certificate
 - e. University Advanced Certificate
 - f. University Certificate of Achievement in Learning and Teaching
 - g. Access to HE (all pathways)
 - h. Foundation Course (all pathways)
 - i. International Foundation Year Course
47. They should be read alongside the General Regulations for Taught Courses, which also apply to you.
48. These regulations tell you what we will do to provide programmes of study, and what you must do as a student/apprentice. They form an important part of the contract between us, and will not change without your involvement (which may be by the Students’ Union acting on your behalf). We review these regulations at the end of every academic year. We will let you know at re-enrolment if there are any changes.

Admissions

49. Our minimum entry criteria, and our expected entry requirements for individual courses, are set out on our webpages and/or prospectus.

Courses that Require Disclosure and Barring Services (DBS)

50. For courses that require DBS check clearance, you must submit your DBS application within 14 days of the start date, or your transfer date to the course. Sufficient clearance is required for you to remain enrolled on your course. If you do not start your DBS application within the 14 days, or subsequently do not disclose new information that could affect the clearance required to undertake your course, we reserve the right to take any appropriate action which may include cancelling your enrolment. You may still be liable for tuition fees until the date of your withdrawal, in line with the University’s Fees and Debt Policy.

Recognition of Prior Learning

51. We do not recognise prior learning for these awards.

A7: University of South Wales – Awards Framework

Rationale

57. The University's framework for academic courses is designed to support:
- a. a full range of higher education courses compatible with the Credit Qualification Framework for Wales and the Framework for Higher Education Qualifications;
 - b. the clear, consistent definition of courses at the standard appropriate to their designated title and higher education level;
 - c. student choice and flexibility, including transferability between courses, part-time opportunities and multi-mode delivery;
 - d. the ability to provide special courses to meet the needs of a wide variety of stakeholders;
 - e. clear links and bridges between courses to ensure all students may find the courses best suited to their needs and aspirations.

The courses offered by the University

58. All taught courses offered and delivered by the University, either for itself or in collaboration with its partner organisations, are structured within a common, credit-based, modular framework. Thus, each course is made up of a defined number of units of standard size, length and value (modules). In their turn, these modules carry a defined number of credits at the level appropriate to their place within a course. To achieve an award, you must accumulate the required number of credits at the levels and in the subjects defined by each particular course specification.

The courses accredited by the University

59. In addition to its own provision, the University may also accredit courses developed by its collaborative partners. These courses equally are courses of the University and are known as 'accredited' provision. They must be demonstrably set at the designated higher education level and be compatible with the University's credit-based system, but they need not follow the University's modular structure.

Credit compatibility

60. The University's credit definitions are compatible with those used by the majority of UK universities, by the Credit and Qualifications Framework for Wales and by the European Credit Transfer System (ECTS). Accumulated credits may therefore be transferred either between courses within the University or to other universities and institutions, subject to meeting the requirements of the receiving course and organisation.
